Vision:0

National leadership in Human Resource Development, Excellence in Education and impacting society through Globally Competent Technologies. Here, Globally Competent Technologies seems not good grammatically because Technologies can't be globally competent, our graduates or professionals can be.

4. Revised Mission Statement was presented, highlighting the Institute's commitment to quality education, research, industry collaboration, innovation, entrepreneurship, ethical values, and holistic development of students.
5. Members reviewed the revised Vision and Mission Statements and confirmed that the recommendations from the previous meeting had been appropriately incorporated.
